Thank You

The flowers at St Mark's this week have been given by John and Janet Day to celebrate the baptism of their grand-daughter Ellie Rose at the church of St Nicholas, Barton-le-Clay

The flowers at Putnoe Heights Church this week have been given by Gwen Benson in memory of her husband Derick

Prayer for Sunday

Grant to us,
O Lord, ears to hear your voice,
eyes to see your beauty,
wills to obey your commandments,
and hearts to love your name,
so that hearing, seeing,
obeying and loving we may come at last to the joys of your kingdom;
through Christ our Lord. Amen

19th in Ordinary

Opening Verse 1 John 4:18

There is no fear in love. But perfect love drives out fear, because fear has to do with punishment. The one who fears is not made perfect in love. We love because he first loved us.

Collect Prayer for the Day

Before we read we pray

God of the nations, to whose table all are invited and in whose kingdom no one is a stranger: hear the cries of the hungry and mercifully extend to all the peoples on earth the joy of your salvation; through Jesus Christ our Lord.

First Bible Reading - Genesis 15: 1-6

After this, the word of the LORD came to Abram in a vision: "Do not be afraid, Abram. I am your shield, your very great reward." But Abram said, "O Sovereign LORD what can you give me since I remain childless and the one who will inherit my estate is Eliezer of Damascus?" And Abram said, "You have given me no children; so a servant in my household will be my heir." Then the word of the LORD came to him: "This man will not be your heir, but a son coming from your own body will be your heir." He took him outside and said, "Look up at the heavens and count the stars-if indeed you can count them." Then he said to him, "So shall your offspring be." Abram believed the LORD, and he credited it to him as righteousness

(This is the word of the Lord - Thanks be to God)

Second Bible Reading - Hebrews 11: 1-3, 8-16

Now faith is being sure of what we hope for and certain of what we do not see. This is what the ancients were commended for. By faith we understand that the universe was formed at God's command, so that what is seen was not made out of what was visible. By faith Abraham, when called to go to a place he would later receive as his inheritance, obeyed and went, even though he did not know where he was going. By faith he made his home in the promised land like a stranger in a foreign country; he lived in tents, as did Isaac and Jacob, who were heirs with him of the same promise. For he was looking forward to the city with foundations, whose architect and builder is God. By faith Abraham, even though he was past age--and Sarah herself was barren--was enabled to become a father because he considered him faithful who had made the promise. And so from this one man, and he as good as dead, came descendants as numerous as the stars in the sky and as countless as the sand on the seashore. All these people were still living by faith when they died. They did not receive the things promised; they only saw them and welcomed them from a distance. And they admitted that they were aliens and strangers on earth. People who say such things show that they are looking for a country of their own. If they had been thinking of the country they had left, they would have had opportunity to return. Instead, they were longing for a better country--a heavenly one. Therefore God is not ashamed to be called their God, for he has prepared a city for them.

This is the word of the Lord- Thanks be to God)

Third Bible Reading - Luke 12: 32-40

"Do not be afraid, little flock, for your Father has been pleased to give you the kingdom. Sell your possessions and give to the poor. Provide purses for yourselves that will not wear out, a treasure in heaven that will not be exhausted, where no thief comes near and no moth destroys. For where your treasure is, there your heart will be also." "Be dressed ready for service and keep your lamps burning, like men waiting for their master to return from a wedding banquet, so that when he comes and knocks they can immediately open the door for him. It will be good for those servants whose master finds them watching when he comes. I tell you the truth, he will dress himself to serve, will have them recline at the table and will come and wait on them. It will be good for those servants whose master finds them ready, even if he comes in the second or third watch of the night. But understand this: If the owner of the house had known at what hour the thief was coming, he would not have let his house be broken into. You also must be ready, because the Son of Man will come at an hour when you do not expect him."

(Reader: This is the word of the Lord - All: Thanks be to God)

Post Communion Prayer

Lord God whose Son is the true vine and the source of life, ever giving himself that the world may live: may we so receive within ourselves the power of his death and passion that, in his saving cup, we may share his glory and be made perfect in his love; for he is alive and reigns, now and fore ever. Amen

Commentary Fear Not

It has been said that when people stop believing in God, then they will believe anything. Without doubt there are many people around who turn to very inadequate sources of help when seeking guidance for their lives. Horoscopes, people who pretend to communicate with dead relatives, there are many people out there who will take advantage of people who have lost or who have never known faith in God. The Christian faith provides us with a way of living which makes sense of our world and our lives. It is simple enough to be taught to children and yet profound enough to challenge the most intelligent minds.

Fear is not only one of our deepest instincts, it is generally one of our most constant companions in life. We fear all kinds of things. There are people obsessed with fear of heights, crowds, confined places, leaving the house, having dirty hands, and the like. Other fears are more commonplace. We may fear bad health, making ends meet, losing employment, what other people think, how our children will turn out. In some cases, fear is providential because it saves us from danger or getting into trouble. We do well, for example, to fear the consequences of engaging in criminal activity or insulting an employer. For the most part, however, fear is not providential but the result of certain ways of thinking that we play out in our imagination. In such cases, fear is non-productive and crippling. Nowhere is this more obvious, for instance, than in our fear of change. Fear has little tolerance for risk and the unknown and, as such, is the single most significant factor preventing our spiritual growth and improvement in the quality of our lives.

In the gospel reading from Luke, Jesus tells us: "Fear not, little flock, for it is your Father's good pleasure to give you the kingdom." This is wonderful encouragement, but how do we "fear not"? How do we end fear, or at least bring it under control? To find a solution, we turn to the reading from Hebrews, where we are told: "Faith is the assurance of things hoped for, the conviction of things not seen." In other words, faith is an antidote to fear. If we truly feel assured in one way or another, fear disappears and the unknown ceases to be threatening. Fear can only exist where our thoughts keep us unsure of ourselves, or of the world around us. Consider for a moment how fear arises in these respects. We think poorly of ourselves, put ourselves down, refuse to acknowledge our abilities, judge ourselves primarily by what others think, and deny ourselves forgiveness for our mistakes. Self-esteem takes a constant beating; feeling we are bad and poorly equipped for life, we set ourselves up for fear. Or we think about the world: what an awful place it is, how much bad news there always is, how jumpy the economy remains, how dishonest and mean other people can be—and we are predictably fearful. Faith, however, switches our perspective. Faith is a way of seeing. Faith allows us to look at things from a divine viewpoint and focuses our thinking according to the teachings of Jesus who assures us that, as members of the "kingdom," we have nothing to fear. Faith doesn't see things blindly, or unreasonably, it is true vision from an elevated point of view. With faith, ; we see ourselves as miraculous beings, intelligent, resourceful, and more than equipped by a loving God to meet our destiny in life, or any challenge life might throw our way. The world certainly has its problems, but it is still a beautiful place, with wonderful opportunities, and populated with significant numbers of caring and loving people. Is this perspective any less reasonable, or less authentic, than the negative outlook of fearful people? Is it inconceivable that we adopt this point of view and thus attain the assurance that dissolves fear? Adopt faith as an antidote for fear. Which means, work on changing your perspective. Be aware of your thoughts and thinking patterns. See how your negative viewpoint, rather than "reality," affects your sense of security. Use the eyes of Christ when you look upon yourself, other people, and the world around you; his teachings provide a way of seeing. "It is your Father's good pleasure to give you the kingdom." From a kingdom perspective, you have nothing to fear.

Meditation

Charity gives itself rich; covetousness hoards itself poor. German Proverb

Prayer

Enable this church to do your will
Make it vulnerable that it may speak with calm humility;
Make it outward looking that it may care deeply
Make it a community of peacemakers and bridge builders
In the midst of turbulence let the church make space for the hearing of your still small voice. (Delia Shephard)

Eternal God, in Christ you make yourself our guest. Amid all our cares and concerns make us attentive to your voice and alert to your presence, that we may prize your word above all else; through Jesus Christ our Lord. Amen.

O God, you are the light of the minds that know you, the life of the souls that love you, and the strength of the wills that serve you; help us so to know you that we may truly love you, so to love you that we may fully serve you, whom to serve is perfect freedom; through Jesus Christ our Lord. —Augustine of Hippo (354-430)

Knit my soul to your own, O Christ, so that I may never be separated from you. Only in you am I a person fully alive. Only in your light can I see and only in your strength can I pursue my way. To you I come, O wisdom without end. In you I rest, O mercy without limit. To you I give all praise, O crown of all majesty. Amen Mechtild of Magdeburg, 1210-80

Wonderful are you, God of creation, without whom nothing draws breath.
Wonderful are you, Christ Jesus, without whom our world stays in the dark.
Wonderful are you, Spirit-Friend, without whom our worship remains formal.
We trust you, we love you, we yearn for more of you;
we praise you for your holiness, beauty and inexhaustible love. Amen!

Methodist Church welcomes call to release Guantanamo detainees

The Methodist Church have welcomed the UK Government's decision to request the return of five former British residents being held in Guantanamo Bay. The announcement overturns the previous refusal of the UK Government to intervene in their case. The Methodist Church is gravely concerned about the continued use of Guantanamo Bay to hold people without due legal process. At the beginning of July, the Methodist Church, the Church of England and the Catholic Bishops' Conference in England and Wales wrote to the Home Secretary, Jacqui Smith, urging her to allow the return to the UK of eight former British residents detained at Guantanamo Bay including those named in yesterday's statement from the Government. The letter was signed by the Revd Graham Carter (the former President of the Methodist Conference), the Rt Revd Tom Butler (Bishop of Southwark) and the Rt Revd William Kenney (Auxiliary Bishop of Birmingham). Steve Hucklesby, Methodist Secretary for International Affairs, says, "This is great news and we hope that these five people can be returned to the UK soon. Most of the British residents detained at Guantanamo have been there for five years now and we are concerned for their mental health and general well-being. Their continued detention has placed stress on their families in the UK. Their imprisonment without due legal process is an unacceptable violation of their rights.

Rest In Peace

On the Sunday following a funeral service we remember in church those who have died. We light a candle to symbolise the light of Christ which eternally shines and brings hope. If you would like a person remembered in our service when the candle is lit, perhaps on an anniversary or birthday, please inform the ministers, or telephone the church office.

May the souls of all the faithful departed through the mercy of God, rest in peace and rise in glory. Amen.'
