Prayer for Sunday

Jesus, by your wounded
feet direct our path.
Jesus, by your nailed hands
move us to deeds of love.
Jesus, by your pierced side purify our desires.
Jesus, by your crown of thorns annihilate our pride.
Jesus by your broken heart,
knit ours to yours. Amen.

4th Sunday of Easter

Opening Verse - Psalm 23

The Lord is my Shepherd, I shall not want

Collect Prayer for the Day

Risen Christ, faithful shepherd of your father's sheep: teach us to hear your voice and to follow your command, that all your people may be gathered into one flock, to the glory of God the Father.

Amen. Common Worship Shorter Collect

First Bible Reading - Acts 2: 42-47

They devoted themselves to the apostles' teaching and to the fellowship, to the breaking of bread and to prayer. Everyone was filled with awe, and many wonders and miraculous signs were done by the apostles. All the believers were together and had everything in common. Selling their possessions and goods, they gave to anyone as he had need. Every day they continued to meet together in the temple courts. They broke bread in their homes and ate together with glad and sincere hearts, praising God and enjoying the favour of all the people. And the Lord added to their number daily those who were being saved.

(This is the word of the Lord All: Thanks be to God)

Second Bible Reading—1 Peter 2: 19-25

For it is commendable if a man bears up under the pain of unjust suffering because he is conscious of God. But how is it to your credit if you receive a beating for doing wrong and endure it? But if you suffer for doing good and you endure it, this is commendable before God. To this you were called, because Christ suffered for you, leaving you an example, that you should follow in his steps. "He committed no sin, and no deceit was found in his mouth." When they hurled their insults at him, he did not retaliate; when he suffered, he made no threats. Instead, he entrusted himself to him who judges justly. He himself bore our sins in his body on the tree, so that we might die to sins and live for righteousness; by his wounds you have been healed. For you were like sheep going astray, but now you have returned to the Shepherd and Overseer of your souls. (This is the word of the Lord - All: Thanks be to God)

Third Reading—John 10: 1-10

"I tell you the truth, the man who does not enter the sheep pen by the gate, but climbs in by some other way, is a thief and a robber. The man who enters by the gate is the shepherd of his sheep. The watchman opens the gate for him, and the sheep listen to his voice. He calls his own sheep by name and leads them out. When he has brought out all his own, he goes on ahead of them, and his sheep follow him because they know his voice. But they will never follow a stranger; in fact, they will run away from him because they do not recognize a stranger's voice." Jesus used this figure of speech, but they did not understand what he was telling them. Therefore Jesus said again, "I tell you the truth, I am the gate for the sheep. All who ever came before me were thieves and robbers, but the sheep did not listen to them. I am the gate; whoever enters through me will be saved. He will come in and go out, and find pasture. The thief comes only to steal and kill and destroy; I have come that they may have life, and have it to the full. (This is the word of the Lord. All: Thanks be to God.)

Post Communion Prayer Lord God our Father, through our Saviour Jesus Christ you have assured your children of eternal life and in baptism have made us one with him: deliver us from the death of sin and raise us to new life in your love, in the fellowship of the Holy Spirit, by the grace of our Lord Jesus Christ. Amen

Hymns (Please distribute Morning Worship and Mission Praise)

Praise to the holiest in the height, 563; Sing to God new songs of worship, 600; Lead us heavenly father lead us, 400; The King of love my shepherd is, 649; The head that once was crowned with thorns, 647

Commentary

Dietrich Bonhoeffer once-noted the advantage of celebrating Easter from a prison cell. You become entirely aware, he reasoned, that the door is the only way out. More than that, the door of a cell can be opened only from the outside. When Jesus speaks of saving those who pass through the door, He has salvation in mind. He's offering an opportunity to step out into the world of life in its fullness just as we might step through a prison door into freedom and a new life.

It's a tough call for the sheep. Staying behind the gate was safe and secure and it's easy to imagine some of them recommending to the others that they don't go out at all. They can remember times when they did go out and not all of them came home. Other sheep point out that if they don't go out to find food and pasture they will starve to death, which doesn't seem like a good idea either. Fortunately Jesus points out that in entering through Him they have security and salvation and in going out through Him, they have access to all that they need to sustain them. The picture of Jesus as a gate has with it the imagery of both a closed gate, behind which the sheep are safe and also an open gate which leads to life giving pastures. The open gate allows the shepherd to come in to call and lead his sheep to where they can graze in safety. The Psalm which is set for today, Psalm 23, and the rest of John 10 talks about Jesus being our shepherd, someone who protects, guides, leads and cares for us as individuals. He leads us out into the freedom of a life that is truly fulfilled. The Latin translation of shepherd, 'pastor', has tended to associate the shepherd image with ministry but originally its most common use was as a metaphor for rulers and leaders. It was a way of describing royal responsibilities which included caring for subjects, the flock. It was the symbolism used when David became the shepherd king and John uses the same imagery for Christ as the Good Shepherd.

The passage links the theme of Jesus as the gate and with the role of a leader shepherd by emphasizing that the sheep know the voice of the shepherd and will follow him through the gate. Jesus says that all who came before Him were no better thieves and robbers, but fortunately, or as a result of this, the sheep did not listen to them. For the Jewish listeners this was a clear statement that access to the Father was uniquely through Jesus Himself, not through those people and voices who had come before Him, merely expounding the law in an inaccessible manner. There is an implication in the parable that we are to make sure that we listen to His voice. But there is more to the parable than just urging a response and explaining why some do not respond to the voices they hear. It is clear warning about rival claims to leadership. The reading follows immediately after the confrontation with the Pharisees about the curing of the man who had been born blind. Jesus had agreed with them at the very end of the previous chapter that they were blind and had failed to see who he was, to and for them. John now presents Jesus as the gate. Those who enter through that gate will be shepherds for the flock. Those who pretended to be the leaders before Jesus, (namely these very same Pharisees from the previous chapter), were self-serving destroyers of the flock. In the context of this gospel and first century Jerusalem they are doubtless also other Jewish leaders who competed for the loyalty of John's sheep. The dangers John outlines stem from other rival (Jewish and non Jewish) leaders who were trying to persuade the early believers to follow them rather than the true teaching of Christ. These false leaders are the people John has Jesus calling thieves and robbers. Jesus declares himself to be the shepherd and those who follow him will learn his voice, as well as being able to discern the voices of the strangers. In the resurrection narratives, Jesus came calling people by their names: Mary Magdala in the garden of Resurrection and Thomas who had doubted. Jesus went out calling to his flock whether they were on the road to Emmaus or out fishing in the dark. Somehow they came to recognise his voice, not perhaps so much by actual sound, but by how his voice sounded inside them. But the message that the passage conveys is bigger than any local Jerusalem disputes about Jesus and the tensions of first century Asia Minor and the timbre of Jesus' earthly voice. Jesus called to the first believers and just as clearly He calls to us. The passage therefore graphically illustrates a way of engaging and being engaged by God and being called out of the sheep pens we each inhabit. It marks the discernment of God's calling and invites us to respond to Him when we hear His voice. Jesus says that He, as the gate, gives access to life in all its abundance; and as the shepherd, knows each of us by name and calls and leads us as individuals to abundant and eternal life. Sam Cappleman

Meditation.

When we read John 10 it's easy to skip over the first verses of the chapter and focus on the better known section which follows where Jesus refers to Himself as the Good Shepherd. I am the Good Shepherd is one of the 'I am' sayings of Jesus which occur in this gospel. But to do that misses out the significance of what is being said in these verses. Here Jesus states very clearly that He is the gate (or door) for the sheep. Gates or doors have 2 sides, an inside and an outside. On one side of our own front doors is our home, on the other the street. Jesus is a door with two sides, on one side is humanity on earth and on the other, God who is in heaven. Through the door of Christ the love of the human race ascends to God and the love of God comes down to the human race. As we enter into God's presence through the door of Christ so we find salvation and enter into life itself in all its fullness.

Prayers for Sunday and the week ahead

St Peter was appointed missionary to the Jews of the dispersion and we pray for our Jewish brothers and sisters. Lord God of Abraham, Isaac and Jacob, who brought forth from the root of Jesse a Messiah for all tribes of the earth; grant us in faith and humility so to stand in awe of your presence, that in the last all the branches of the tree of life may be grafted in, and all those whom you have chosen may rejoice together in your love. Amen

Heavenly Father, You gave your Son, Jesus Christ to show us the Way of justice, truth and peace. Help us hold his example before our eyes, in the way that leads to a better world on earth and eternal life in the Heaven. Amen

O Lord, whose way is perfect, help us always to trust in your goodness, to walk in the way of faith, and to follow in the path of simplicity. Teach us to cast our cares on your providence, that we may possess a quiet mind and a contented spirit; through Jesus Christ our Lord. Amen

God, our Shepherd, give to the church, a new vision and a new charity, new wisdom and fresh understanding, the revival of her brightness and the renewal of her unity; that the eternal message of thy Son, undefiled by the traditions of men, may be hailed as the good news of the age; through him who maketh all things new. Amen. Percy Dearmer

Christ the good shepherd, grant to all whom you have called to positions of leadership in this and every land, strength, wisdom and integrity, that they may feed the people committed to their charge, and lead them beside the waters of peace. Amen Adapted from Michael Councill

Almighty and ever-living God, give us new strength from the courage of Christ our shepherd, and lead us to join the saints in heaven, where he lives and reigns with you and the Holy Spirit, one God, for ever and ever. Amen

God of peace, who brought again from the dead our Lord Jesus Christ, the great Shepherd of the sheep, with the blood of the eternal covenant: make us perfect in every good work to do your will, and work in us that which is well-pleasing in your sight; and may the blessing of God almighty, the Father, the Son and the Holy Spirit, be among you and remain with you always. Amen

Book Review

The Jewish Prophet: Rabbi Dr Michael J Shire List Price £12.99

Some of us may recall that the Bishop of St Albans quoted a passage from a book called The Jewish Prophet in his Lent Course evening. This is a book which contains extracts from the great Jewish prophets from the time of the Old Testament up until today. It is illustrated with manuscripts from the British Library and gives insights into Jewish wisdom, thinking and history from Moses up until the present day. Split into three sections; In the beginning, From Generation to Generation, and Even in our own Time, this anthology is a collection of cameos and writings from individuals in Jewish history who have contributed to the prophetic role. People, who the introduction suggests, have their eyes directed towards the contemporary scene but their ears inclined to God. This is a good book to dip into or to use in times of reflection. Don't be put off by the list price, its available much cheaper from Amazon (via the church web site). Ask at the office if you don't have internet access and would like to order a copy. Sam Cappleman

Please help www.thischurch.com

In the last week thischurch.com received 5,986 visitors. They came from 98 countries across the world. They were interested in viewing many different resources including the weekly bible notes and meditations, information about renewal of wedding vows and funerals. The most visited material was once again the intercessions page. People want help with prayers and they value the weekly prayers supplied by those who lead our intercessions in worship.

If you lead prayers, please will you email a copy to Charlie. If you cannot type, please find somebody who has a computer who can then email them for you. This is an important ministry and we really do need this support.

Rest In Peace

On the Sunday following a funeral service we remember in church those who have died. We light a candle to symbolise the light of Christ which eternally shines and brings hope. If you would like a person remembered in our service when the candle is lit, perhaps on an anniversary or birthday, please inform the ministers, or telephone the church office.

Ettie Cobby

May the souls of all the faithful departed through the mercy of God, rest in peace and rise in glory. Amen.'

Church Membership

As AGM's approach it is really helpful and sometimes quite important for us to have accurate membership information for our church. Our churches pay a financial contribution to the Church of England & the Methodist Church for members, it is therefore important to have an accurate record of membership to enable us to pay our church share. It is also helpful to have up to date details if we need to make contact with you, perhaps when a pastoral situation arises.

If you consider yourself to be a member of this church, please would you kindly check the church membership list this morning, or over the next couple of weeks. If your details require amendment then complete the form and return it to the church office, a minister or a member of the Leadership Team.

It is now very helpful to have your email address. We would like to be able to use this to communicate with you. Please consider giving us this information if you have not already done so. Please be assured we do not release your details to any other organisations.
