Ordinary 20

Opening Verse of Scripture Psalm 67:1

May God be gracious to us and bless us and make his face shine upon us, that your ways may be known on earth, your salvation among all nations.

Collect Prayer (Before we read we pray) Almighty God, who called your Church to bear witness that you were in Christ reconciling the world to yourself: help us to proclaim the good news of your love, that all who hear it may be drawn to you; through him who was lifted up on the cross, and reigns with you in the unity of the Holy Spirit, one God, now and for ever. Amen. Common Worship

First Bible Reading Isaiah 56:1,6-8

This is what the LORD says: "Maintain justice and do what is right, for my salvation is close at hand and my righteousness will soon be revealed. And foreigners who bind themselves to the LORD to serve him, to love the name of the LORD, and to worship him, all who keep the Sabbath without desecrating it and who hold fast to my covenant-- these I will bring to my holy mountain and give them joy in my house of prayer. Their burnt offerings and sacrifices will be accepted on my altar; for my house will be called a house of prayer for all nations." The Sovereign LORD declares-- he who gathers the exiles of Israel: "I will gather still others to them besides those already gathered." (This is the Word of the Lord — Thanks be to God)

Second Reading - Romans Chapter 11:1-2a, 29-32

I ask then: Did God reject his people? By no means! I am an Israelite myself, a descendant of Abraham, from the tribe of Benjamin. God did not reject his people, whom he foreknew. For God's gifts and his call are irrevocable. Just as you who were at one time disobedient to God have now received mercy as a result of their disobedience, so they too have now become disobedient in order that they too may now receive mercy as a result of God's mercy to you. For God has bound all men over to disobedience so that he may have mercy on them all. (This is the Word of the Lord — Thanks be to God)

Gospel Reading - Matthew 15:10-28

Jesus called the crowd to him and said, "Listen and understand. What goes into a man's mouth does not make him 'unclean,' but what comes out of his mouth, that is what makes him 'unclean.'" Then the disciples came to him and asked, "Do you know that the Pharisees were offended when they heard this?" He replied, "Every plant that my heavenly Father has not planted will be pulled up by the roots. Leave them; they are blind guides. If a blind man leads a blind man, both will fall into a pit." Peter said, "Explain the parable to us." "Are you still so dull?" Jesus asked them. "Don't you see that whatever enters the mouth goes into the stomach and then out of the body? But the things that come out of the mouth come from the heart, and these make a man 'unclean.' For out of the heart come evil thoughts, murder, adultery, sexual immorality, theft, false testimony, slander. These are what make a man 'unclean'; but eating with unwashed hands does not make him 'unclean.'" Leaving that place, Jesus withdrew to the region of Tyre and Sidon.

A Canaanite woman from that vicinity came to him, crying out, "Lord, Son of David, have mercy on me! My daughter is suffering terribly from demon-possession." Jesus did not answer a word. So his disciples came to him and urged him, "Send her away, for she keeps crying out after us." He answered, "I was sent only to the lost sheep of Israel." The woman came and knelt before him. "Lord, help me!" she said. He replied, "It is not right to take the children's bread and toss it to their dogs." "Yes, Lord," she said, "but even the dogs eat the crumbs that fall from their masters' table." Then Jesus answered, "Woman, you have great faith! Your request is granted." And her daughter was healed from that very hour. (This is the Word of the Lord — Thanks be to God)

Post Communion Prayer

God our creator, you feed your children with the true manna, the living bread from heaven: let this holy food sustain us through our earthly pilgrimage until we come to that place where hunger and thirst are no more; through Jesus Christ our Lord. Amen

Hymns (Please distribute Morning Worship and Mission Praise)

1. Ye servants of God your master proclaim. 784
2. God forgave my sin in Jesus' Name 181
3. Jesus shall reign where're the sun. 379
4. Amazing grace 31
5. The kingdom of God is justice and joy 651

Commentary

The alternative Old Testament reading for today is Isaiah 56:1,6-8 and is representative of what all the prophets proclaim. God's salvation is for all nations. The whole reason for Israel being called as a nation of light is so that other nations can see their way to the true and living God. Zechariah's song at the birth of his son, John the Baptist, sets it all out clearly. Salvation for all nations through Israel is quite a promise. The people of Israel are rightly proud of being God's chosen people, but as they thought of themselves as special - chosen - they thought everyone else was outside and not included - so the prophets had to remind the people that "the promise is not just for you - but for all the other people on earth.

Susan Sayers writes: "It was true. Starting with the chosen nation, God wanted all the people on earth to have that special friendship with God which Abraham had. It isn't just for a few people, or for one particular nation, but for people of every age, country and time. With God not one person is left 'on the outside'. God's loving is for everybody, everywhere, every time. If that's how it is for God, then that's how it must be for us as well. We must make sure that in all our loving we don't leave people out. Check whether there are people we deliberately avoid. Do we assume some people are not worth telling about Jesus? Would we rather some types of people didn't come to our church? If God had thought that about us, most of us wouldn't be here. It's his love for us that brought us, and he has love for lots of others who need us to show it to them, and love them into the kingdom.

Paul with a passion for spreading the good news to the gentile world, is equally strong in proclaiming hope for his own people of promise. God is never fickle, and if his promise has been made, it will, in good time, be fulfilled. He can even see how God can bring blessing out of their rejection of Jesus, the source of hope. What that does is to place even the chosen people of promise in the position of receiving God's mercy, spelling out to them his amazing forbearing love. In today's Gospel we are given an example, a foretaste, of those putting their faith in God who are gentiles. Not only the centurion (who was obviously closely involved with the Jewish people, since he had built their synagogue) but also the Canaanite woman (belonging to a country which was the traditional enemy to God's ways) is recommended by Jesus for here remarkable faith, which touches his heart and impresses him. It is seen in sharp contrast to the 'experts' - the Pharisees who are able to see Jesus at work and hear his teaching with all their background of promise behind them, and are still blinded to the truth of fulfilment.

And as a P.S. In the Old Testament reading from Genesis we see the generosity of God's love at work in Joseph. It really did make him a new man. Much later Paul was to write: "If anyone is on Christ, he is a new creation." God's love is for anyone and everyone - even you and me!

Richard Ledger

Meditation

We have to be careful to pay attention to the words of Jesus in the reading from Matthew today. Jesus tells his disciples that what we eat does not make us unclean. It is one thing for him to argue with the Pharisees about the religious traditions, but now he has set aside the nothing less than the scriptural food laws. This was important for Jesus because the food laws created an absolute barrier to contact with gentiles. In order to reach out to gentiles, something would have to be done about the food laws, so Jesus cancelled them out entirely. Having done this, the stage is now set for outreach to gentiles.

Prayers for Sunday and the week ahead

Eternal God, the light of the minds that know you, the life of the souls that love you, the strength of the wills that serve you; help us so to know you that we may truly love you, so to love you that we may fully serve you, whom to serve is perfect freedom. Pope Gelasius' prayer book 7th or 8th century

In the rush and noise of life, as you have intervals, step within yourselves and be still. Wait upon God and feel his good presence; this will carry you through your day's business. Reinhold Niebuhr, twentieth century

God, give us grace to accept with serenity the things that cannot be changed, courage to change the things that should be changed, and the wisdom to distinguish the one from the other. Author unknown

Lord of the Universe look in love upon your people. Pour the healing oil of your compassion on a world that is wounded and dying. Send us out in search of the lost, to comfort the afflicted, to bind up the broken, and to free those trapped under the rubble of their fallen dreams. Sheila Cassidy

Make us true servants to all those in need, filled with compassion in thought, word and deed; loving our neighbour, whatever the cost, feeding the hungry and finding the lost.

Lord, make us healers of body and mind; give us your power to bring sight to the blind; love to the loveless and gladness for pain, filling all hearts with the joy of your name. From One Worship

A Sobering Possibility

I was shocked, confused, bewildered
As I entered Heaven's door,
Not by the beauty of it all,
Nor the lights or its décor.

But it was the folks in Heaven
Who made me splutter and gasp-
The thieves, the liars, the sinners,
The alcoholics and the trash.

There stood the kid from seventh year
Who swiped my lunch money twice.
Next to him was my old neighbour
Who never said anything nice.

Bob, who I always thought
Was rotting away in hell,
Was sitting pretty on cloud nine,
Looking incredibly well.

I nudged Jesus: 'What's the deal?
I would love to hear Your take.
How did all these sinners get up here?
God must've made a mistake.

'And why is everyone so quiet,
So sombre-give me a clue.'
'Hush, child,' He said,
'They're all in shock.
No one thought they'd be seeing you!'

A Reflection on a Week of Rioting

Reflecting on recent events before attending the recalled sitting of the House of Lords, the Archbishop of Canterbury, Dr Rowan Williams, said:

The tragedy of the events of recent days is that those who will pay the heaviest price are those who most need stability and encouragement in local communities – people who run small local businesses, people who need efficient emergency services, people, old or young, with limited mobility. In no imaginable sense does the violence we have seen help anyone; those who have been involved have achieved nothing except to intensify the cycle of deprivation and vulnerability.

That being said, we now have a major question to address, which is how to combat the deep alienation we have seen, the alienation and cynicism that leads to reckless destruction. The Government has insisted on the priority of creating stronger, better resourced local communities. This priority is now a matter of extreme urgency. We need to see initiatives that will address anxieties and provide some hope of long term stability in community services, especially for the young. Meanwhile the Church will maintain its commitment to all communities at risk, and is ready to offer its help and solidarity in every possible way.

A Prayer for peace in our communities

Gracious God,
We pray for peace in our communities this day.
We commit to you all who work for peace and an end to tensions,
And those who work to uphold law and justice.
We pray for an end to fear,
For comfort and support to those who suffer.
For calm in our streets and cities,
That people may go about their lives in safety and peace. In your mercy, hear our prayers, now and always. Amen

Rest In Peace

On the Sunday following a funeral service we remember in church those who have died. We light a candle to symbolise the light of Christ which eternally shines and brings hope. If you would like a person remembered in our service when the candle is lit, perhaps on an anniversary or birthday, please inform the ministers, or telephone the church office.

Meirwen Powlson

May the souls of all the faithful departed through the mercy of God, rest in peace and rise in glory. Amen.
