Ordinary 32 Remembrance Sunday

Opening Sentence from Scripture -

The wisdom from above is first pure, then peaceable, gentle, willing to yield, full of mercy and good fruits, without a trace of partiality or hypocrisy. And a harvest of righteousness is sown in peace for those who make peace. James 3:17-18

Collect (Before we read we pray)

Eternal God, in whose perfect realm no sword is drawn but the sword of justice, and no strength known but the strength of love: guide and inspire all who seek your kingdom, that peoples and nations may find their security in the love which casts out fear; through Jesus Christ our Saviour. Amen.

Old Testament Reading - Micah 4: 1-5

In the last days the mountain of the Lord's temple will be established as chief among the mountains; it will be raised above the hills, and peoples will stream to it. Many nations will come and say, "Come, let us go up to the mountain of the LORD, to the house of the God of Jacob. He will teach us his ways, so that we may walk in his paths." The law will go out from Zion, the word of the LORD from Jerusalem. He will judge between many peoples and will settle disputes for strong nations far and wide. They will beat their swords into ploughshares and their spears into pruning hooks. Nation will not take up sword against nation, nor will they train for war anymore. Every man will sit under his own vine and under his own fig tree, and no one will make them afraid, for the LORD Almighty has spoken. All the nations may walk in the name of their gods; we will walk in the name of the LORD our God for ever and ever.

(This is the word of the Lord -- All: Thanks be to God)

Second Reading - Romans 8: 31-end

What, then, shall we say in response to this? If God is for us, who can be against us? He who did not spare his own Son, but gave him up for us all--how will he not also, along with him, graciously give us all things? Who will bring any charge against those whom God has chosen? It is God who justifies. Who is he that condemns? Christ Jesus, who died--more than that, who was raised to life --is at the right hand of God and is also interceding for us. Who shall separate us from the love of Christ? Shall trouble or hardship or persecution or famine or nakedness or danger or sword? As it is written: "For your sake we face death all day long; we are considered as sheep to be slaughtered." No, in all these things we are more than conquerors through him who loved us. For I am convinced that neither death nor life, neither angels nor demons, neither the present nor the future, nor any powers, neither height nor depth, nor anything else in all creation, will be able to separate us from the love of God that is in Christ Jesus our Lord.

(This is the word of the Lord — All: Thanks be to God)

Gospel Reading – 1 Cor15: 50-end

I declare to you, brothers, that flesh and blood cannot inherit the kingdom of God, nor does the perishable inherit the imperishable. Listen, I tell you a mystery: We will not all sleep, but we will all be changed-- in a flash, in the twinkling of an eye, at the last trumpet. For the trumpet will sound, the dead will be raised imperishable, and we will be changed. For the perishable must clothe itself with the imperishable, and the mortal with immortality. When the perishable has been clothed with the imperishable, and the mortal with immortality, then the saying that is written will come true: "Death has been swallowed up in victory." "Where, O death, is your victory? Where, O death, is your sting?" The sting of death is sin, and the power of sin is the law. But thanks be to God! He gives us the victory through our Lord Jesus Christ. Therefore, my dear brothers, stand firm. Let nothing move you. Always give yourselves fully to the work of the Lord, because you know that your labour in the Lord is not in vain..

(This is the Word of the Lord—All: Thanks be to God)

Post Communion Prayer Lord of heaven, in this Eucharist you have brought us near to an innumerable company of angels and to the spirits of the saints made perfect: as in this food of our earthly pilgrimage we have shared their fellowship, so may we come to share their joy in heaven; through Jesus Christ our Lord. Amen

Commentary Remembrance Sunday

Today we thank God for those who have suffered as a result of war, and for those who have been disabled and injured in recent wars who suffer daily. We remember those who have been called upon by our country to put themselves in danger who are currently engaged in service in places such as Afghanistan and Iraq. Inevitably today we also bring to mind loved ones who we have lost. Increasingly Remembrance Sunday has overtaken All Souls as the yearly time in our society to remember all of those who have died. So we remember loved ones and bring to mind our own bereavement. This means that this service is inevitably a time of mixed emotions.

There is thanksgiving for memories, there is pride - and quite rightly some of it is national pride for the courage of our armed forces. There is also pain, possibly anger, emptiness and all of the other things we feel when faced with death and suffering. So it is that Remembrance Sunday confronts us with some difficult questions about ourselves and about God.

About ourselves, because wars happen as a result of what we humans do to one another. They come from human anger, resentment, greed. Religion is often blamed for war, sadly doing away with religion would never stop wars. At the heart of war lies a willingness to kill other human beings because they are different, or because they have something which we want. We would fight with or without a God who we use to try and justify ourselves. In wars we often convince ourselves that somehow God is on our side and perhaps because what we are doing is so terrible, we imagine that the people we are bombing are somehow not God's children too, so it doesn't matter how many of the other side are killed, the casualties which really matter are our own.

About God, because looking into the face of evil and suffering challenges our faith in God. Truthfully, when faced with suffering, many good people find it impossible to believe in God. A Jewish survivor of Treblinka told how the Nazi's kept a squad of Jewish slaves to clear out the gas chambers and bury the bodies. The Jewish prisoners had to open the doors of the gas chambers and drag the bodies to the grave. He said that sometimes they found living children, still alive, clinging to their mothers. They strangled them before throwing them into the grave. People who visit Auschwitz say that the thing that most shatters them is the pile of children's shoes.

We shout at God asking why he allows it. In one of the great texts of the Holocaust, Elie Wiesel describes the execution by hanging of a young boy in one of the concentration camps. He tells us that the boy twitched in his death throes on the end of the rope, a voice was heard crying out 'Where is God now' To which came back the answer 'God is there; hanging on the gallows'

God so identified with us in our sorrows that God dies our deaths and suffers our pains. The only God who can be worshipped is a God who suffers with us. At the heart of our faith as Christians lies the fact that Jesus of Nazareth, who reveals God to us, dies. The crucifixion of Jesus rescues us from naïve optimism because it identifies God with our pain and suffering.

The death of Jesus shows God bearing the pain most visibly, God suffers. There is no easy way out, no legions of angels flying to the rescue. God like us suffers. Like us when faced with unbearable grief, Jesus shouts 'why me' or 'My God, My God, why have you forsaken me'

Meditation

The death of Christ shows us that the idea of a God who watches impassively is wrong. We do not know why God allows suffering, but we do know that it hurts God as much as it hurts us and there is nothing which he is able to do to wave a wand and make it go away. It is expressed beautifully in the hymn God is Love: and he enfoldeth all the world in one embrace; with unfailing grasp he holdeth every child of every race. And when human hearts are breaking under sorrow's iron rod, then they find that self same aching deep within the heart of God. Amen.

Prayers for week ahead

Let us pray for all who suffer as a result of conflict, and ask that God may give us peace:

- For the service men and women who have died in the violence of war, each one remembered by and known to God; May God give peace - God give peace
- For those who love them in death as in life, offering the distress of our grief and the sadness of our loss; May God give peace - God give peace
- For all members of the armed forces who are in danger this day, remembering family, friends and all who pray for their safe return; May God give peace - God give peace
- For civilian women, children and men whose lives are disfigured by war or terror, calling to mind in penitence the anger and hatreds of humanity; May God give peace - God give peace
- For peace-makers and peace-keepers, who seek to keep this world secure and free; May God give peace - God give peace
- For all who bear the burden and privilege of leadership, political, military and religious; asking for gifts of wisdom and resolve in the search for reconciliation and peace. May God give peace - God give peace

O God of truth and justice, we hold before you those whose memory we cherish, and those whose names we will never know. Help us to lift our eyes above the torment of this broken world, and grant us the grace to pray for those who wish us harm. As we honour the past, may we put our faith in your future; for you are the source of life and hope, now and for ever. Amen.

I vow to thee, my country,
all earthly things above,
entire and whole and perfect,
the service of my love:
the love that asks no question,
the love that stands the test,
that lays upon the altar
the dearest and the best;
the love that never falters,
the love that pays the price,
the love that makes undaunted
the final sacrifice.

And there's another country,
I've heard of long ago,
most dear to them that love her,
most great to them that know;
we may not count her armies,
we may not see her King;
her fortress is a faithful heart,
her pride is suffering;
and soul by soul and silently
her shining bounds increase,
and her ways are ways of gentleness
and all her paths are peace.

O God, whose all-sustaining hand
is over this and every land,
whose laws from age to age have stood,
sure guardians of our common good,
may love of justice rule our days
and ordered freedom guide our ways.

Be near to those who strive to see
our homes from harm and terror free,
who live their lives at duty's call
and spend themselves in serving all:
receive for them your people's prayer,
uphold them by your constant care.

Teach us to serve our neighbour's need,
the homeless help, the hungry feed,
the poor protect, the weak defend,
and to the friendless prove a friend;
the wayward and the lost reclaim
for love of Christ and in his Name.

So may our hearts remember yet
that cross where love and justice met,
and find in Christ our fetters freed,
whose mercy answers all our need:
who lives and reigns, our risen Lord,
where justice sheathes her righteous sword.

Tune Melita

St Mark's 'Messy Church'

Praise the Lord! Last Wednesday we were delighted to welcome 19 children and 7 Mum's to our Messy Church 'David and Goliath' session. Great fun was had by all! Once again we were blessed with a splendid team of enthusiastic helpers, although we may need more if the 'harvest gets richer'! Our next session will be on Wednesday 8 December 3.45 – 5.30pm. The planning meeting for this is at 9.30 next Tuesday 16 November in the Chapel, please join us if you are interested in helping or speak to Jean Bank or Wendy Waters.

St Mark's Weekly Offering Envelopes

New sets of sets of weekly offering envelopes are available in the entrance lobby from today. Regular giving is an essential part of the Church's income, and helps greatly in meeting the costs of running St Mark's. We are very fortunate that so many members of the congregation already give so generously to the Church in this way.

You can make regular weekly or monthly gifts, either by standing order or through the weekly envelope scheme. In addition, if you are a UK tax payer, you can Gift Aid your offering - and the Church can claim 20% tax back from the Government. This can also be done through the yellow Gift Aid envelopes on the chairs. If you would like to find out more please speak to Jim Williams after the service or contact him on 01234 360605. As always, thank you for your generosity.

Advent with St Albans - by text, and email

St Albans Diocese are encouraging people to sign up to receive a daily Advent verse from the Bible by email or text and to download a weekly sheet from www.livinggodslve.org. In the rush up to Christmas it is guaranteed that people will value time each day in Advent to stop, reflect and pray. Sign up, on the home page of this website, to take part in the Advent Challenge, Me, You, the World and God. You will receive a daily bible verse by email or text. The verses, which begin in Genesis and go through to the Nativity, offer an opportunity to reflect on our relationship with one another, with the world and with God. The themes of the weeks are Beginnings, Relationships, Visions and Encounters.

THE CHURCH OF ENGLAND
ST ALBANS

You can also download a leaflet for each week listing the verses. The leaflet, like the email, offers brief comments, questions for reflection and pointers for prayer. There will also be a special advent twitter so sign up now. Tell your friends !

Sign up now and also join in the 'design a logo' competition. www.livinggodslve.org

Help us Help Kisiizi. Every year before Christmas our churches help support a project either in the UK or around the world. This year we are supporting Kisiizi Hospital in Uganda. People in Uganda are struggling because of their lack of good medical facilities and support infrastructure.

Please help us by saving over the next few weeks and making a donation on or before the gift service on 5 December. Donations can be made at either church office, or by dropping envelopes on a Sunday. You can also take one of the Smartie tubes, eat the Smarties and return the tube with money inside ! Sam Cappleman

Mother Teresa Group Thank you to all those who donated wool to our knitting group, we are very grateful. Maureen Watling
