Grant to us, O Lord,
purity of heart and strength of purpose,
that no passion
may hinder us from doing your will,
and no weakness
from doing it;
that in your light we may see light clearly,
and in your service find perfect freedom;
through Christ our Lord. Amen.

Ordinary 25

Opening Verses of Scripture—Psalm 1:6

The Lord watches over the way of the righteous, but the way of the wicked will perish.

Collect Prayer for the Day Before we read we pray

God who in generous mercy sent the Holy Spirit upon your church in the burning fire of your love: grant that your people may be fervent in the fellowship of the Gospel that, always abiding in you, they may be found steadfast in faith and active in service; through Jesus Christ your Son our Lord, who is alive and reigns with you, in the unity of the Holy Spirit, one God, now and for ever. Amen. Common Worship

First Bible Reading - Jeremiah 11:18-20

Because the Lord revealed their plot to me, I knew it, for at that time he showed me what they were doing. I had been like a gentle lamb led to the slaughter; I did not realise that they had plotted against me, saying, "Let us destroy the tree and its fruit; let us cut him off from the land of the living, that his name be remembered no more." But, O Lord Almighty, you who judge righteously and test the heart and mind, let me see your vengeance upon them, for to you I have committed my cause.

(Reader : This is the word of the Lord. All: Thanks be to God)

Second Reading - James 3:13 TO 4:3,7-8a

Who is wise and understanding among you? Let him show it by his good life, by deeds done in the humility that comes from wisdom. But if you harbour bitter envy and selfish ambition in your hearts, do not boast about it or deny the truth. Such "wisdom" does not come down from heaven but is earthly, unspiritual, of the devil. For where you have envy and selfish ambition, there you find disorder and every evil practice. But the wisdom that comes from heaven is first of all pure; then peace-loving, considerate, submissive, full of mercy and good fruit, impartial and sincere. Peacemakers who sow in peace raise a harvest of righteousness. What causes fights and quarrels among you? Don't they come from your desires that battle within you? You want something but don't get it. You kill and covet, but you cannot have what you want. You quarrel and fight. You do not have, because you do not ask God. When you ask, you do not receive, because you ask with wrong motives, that you may spend what you get on your pleasures. Submit yourselves, then, to God. Resist the devil, and he will flee from you. Come near to God and he will come near to you.

(Reader: This is the word of the Lord. All: Thanks be to God)

Gospel Reading - Mark 9:30-37 (All— Glory to Christ our Saviour)

They left that place and passed through Galilee. Jesus did not want anyone to know where they were, because he was teaching his disciples. He said to them, "The Son of Man is going to be betrayed into the hands of men. They will kill him, and after three days he will rise." But they did not understand what he meant and were afraid to ask him about it. They came to Capernaum. When he was in the house, he asked them, "What were you arguing about on the road?" But they kept quiet because on the way they had argued about who was the greatest. Sitting down, Jesus called the Twelve and said, "If anyone wants to be first, he must be the very last, and the servant of all." He took a little child and had him stand among them. Taking him in his arms, he said to them, "Whoever welcomes one of these little children in my name welcomes me; and whoever welcomes me does not welcome me but the one who sent me."

(Reader: This is the Gospel of Christ- All: Praise to Christ our Lord)

Hymns (Please distribute Holy Communion and Mission Praise)

1. Dear Lord and Father of mankind 111
2. God is building a house 184
3. Make me a channel of your peace 456
4. Now thank we all our God 486

Post Communion Prayer

God our creator, you feed your children with the true manna, the living bread from heaven: let this holy food sustain us through our earthly pilgrimage until we come to that place where hunger and thirst are no more; through Jesus Christ our Lord. Amen.

Commentary Mark 9. 30-37

I recently went to Spain on my holidays. I so dislike the boarding process with the searches and queues, that I decided to pay for priority boarding. It avoided some of the check in procedures, although not as many as I would have hoped. This is the way things work in public transport and if you are prepared to pay, you can also have better seats.

It is difficult therefore when we come to thinking about the Kingdom of Jesus. There is no queue jumping, and we have to learn to put others before ourselves. We read in our lesson today that the disciples found this hard. They wanted to have the best positions, the best rewards.

Just think of the irony of it all. Jesus is speaking about his death for others, the laying down of his life for others. Meanwhile the disciples are arguing among themselves who will be the one to bask most in the reflected glory of Jesus the Messiah. It was agreed that Jesus would be king, but they argued about who would be the next in line, who would speak for Jesus when he was busy, who would fulfil special engagements when he was not available? All of these things had to be agreed.

In the gospel passage today Jesus shows us that we need to guard against purely personal ambition, that we should not seek to put ourselves first. True greatness lies not in self promotion, but in self-denial and in child like joy and obedience to Him. Greatness is not measured by the power and influence we have over other people, but by how we serve them.

So who will be qualified to be the ambassador for Jesus? Jesus uses the example of a child. Not an obvious choice, since children are obviously immature and naive. When we think of children we do not regard them as an example, rather we expect from them obedience and respect. However Jesus knew that the secret to successful living was to be found in having certain childlike qualities. Children are open and willing to learn, they are not restricted by their prejudices and ingrained attitudes. It is a sad indictment that the older we get, often the more set in our ways we become. Children are much more open to new ideas, possibilities and opportunities. As much as children are flexible, older people can become rigid and inflexible. It is true that children lack experience, but it is exactly that lack of experience which makes them open to new experiences, hence they are more spontaneous and fun.

As disciples we all need to understand the call of Jesus for a radically different way of living. Following Jesus means that we are prepared to share with him in turning the world's standards on their head. To do this it requires a whole revolution in the way we think and act. This requires us to go back to basics and start learning all over again.

Of course throughout history the church has been as bad at this as anybody and we all need to learn the basic lessons. If the disciples are to gain lasting dignity they must be willing to be a servant "to all." They must learn to receive the child in Jesus' name.

At the time of Jesus children were lacking in any power they had no status and they were very vulnerable. The disciple is to be just like that, Jesus says, "welcome the child" into their lives – accept being vulnerable and therefore dependent on God.

This is not an encouragement to be childish, but it is a call for us all to consider in what ways we might be more childlike and to take ourselves less seriously. This is good for healthy living, but it is also essential for the gospel. If we fail to have an open and childlike attitude, then the message of Jesus could never be appreciated. Access to the Kingdom of God required a willingness to see miracles with child like eyes. The desire and willingness to share the good news of the Kingdom required further childlike qualities, enthusiasm and joy. Charles Royden

Meditation

The Gospel of Mark was written most probably around AD 66. At that time it is probable that the leaders of the early church, for whom Mark wrote, were already claiming rank and privilege. In not sparing the truth about how the disciples behaved, it might be that mark is reminding these leaders about their responsibility: they were to be "the least of all and the servant of all." That's a sobering reminder, not only to church leaders, but all of us. Power easily goes to our heads. We need regular reminders that we are servants, whether we wear business suits, teach or have any positions of authority.

Who is the "greatest?" If the disciples are to gain lasting dignity they must be willing to be a servant "to all." Instead of seeking out and serving the high placed and important in society and church, the disciple is to seek out the company of the poor and insignificant – the "children." What we know from other teachings of Jesus is that in "the least" we will discover Christ himself. Charles Royden

Prayers for Sunday and the week ahead

Thank You Lord

Thank you Lord that I can see so many are blind.

Thank you Lord that I can hear so many are deaf.

Thank you Lord that I can walk so many are crippled.

Thank you Lord that I have food so many are starving.

Thank you Lord that I have shelter so many are homeless.

Thank you Lord for the touch of a friendly hand so many are lonely.

Thank you Lord for the Cross you share with me and for all your blessings so many deserve them better.

Help me Lord always to be mindful. Amen

Loving God, we praise you for welcoming and accepting us as your beloved children. We know that you are in the business of changing hearts and lives through the witness of believers and the urging of your Spirit and we thank you for it. Make us fitting witnesses and grant us the grace to be people who reach out as every opportunity comes to us - to be instruments of your healing and transforming power. We think, O Lord, not only of ourselves, not only of our families, but we think of the world and those in it who need wholeness, who need peace, who need a reason to have hope..... Lord, hear our prayer

God, the source of all health: So fill my heart with faith in your love, that with calm expectancy I may make room for your power to possess me, and gracefully accept your healing; through Jesus Christ our Lord. Amen.

A plea from Hazeldene Heights Pre-School Is there anyone kind enough to volunteer to make the play dough each week. Jo Barrow has kindly done this for over 2 years and now wants to retire.

Thank you very much Jo it has been very much appreciated. The staff do appreciate the help as they are very busy with other jobs. It is a very simple job. For more information see Janet Smith. Thank you.

Are you thinking about who might come for Christmas this year? Perhaps you would like to make it a bit different. Some of the adults from overseas who are currently studying at UK universities would love to spend a couple of days in a real home, rather than on a deserted campus. It is interesting to share Christmas with people for whom it is all quite new (many international students are from China, for example). HOST has been linking students with hospitable volunteers for 22 years, at Christmas and also one-off weekends throughout the year. HOST is a registered charity backed by the Foreign Office and many universities. It is not necessary for hosts to live near a university, as students are prepared to travel far for this unique experience! See www.hostuk.org or call HOST's voluntary regional organiser Paul Ryall, on 01296 634929. Thank you!

Who sweeps a room as by God's laws, makes that and the action fine

Rest In Peace

On the Sunday following a funeral service we remember in church those who have died. We light a candle to symbolise the light of Christ which eternally shines and brings hope. If you would like a person remembered in our service when the candle is lit, perhaps on an anniversary or birthday, please inform the ministers, or telephone the church office.

Bert Howe

May the souls of all the faithful departed through the mercy of God, rest in peace and rise in glory. Amen.'
