Ordinary 22

Opening Sentence from Scripture - Philippians Chapter 1

Your attitude should be the same as that of Christ Jesus: Who, being in very nature God, did not consider equality with God something to be grasped, but made himself nothing, taking the very nature of a servant, being made in human likeness

Collect (Before we read we pray)

Almighty God, you search us and know us: may we rely on you in strength and rest on you in weakness, now and in all our days; through Jesus Christ our Lord. Amen

Old Testament Reading - Proverbs 25:6-7

Do not exalt yourself in the king's presence, and do not claim a place among great men; it is better for him to say to you, "Come up here," than for him to humiliate you before a nobleman. (This is the word of the Lord -- All: Thanks be to God)

Hebrews 13 v 1 - 16

Keep on loving each other as brothers. Do not forget to entertain strangers, for by so doing some people have entertained angels without knowing it. Remember those in prison as if you were their fellow-prisoners, and those who are ill-treated as if you yourselves were suffering. Marriage should be honoured by all, and the marriage bed kept pure, for God will judge the adulterer and all the sexually immoral. Keep your lives free from the love of money and be content with what you have, because God has said, Never will I leave you; never will I forsake you. So we say with confidence, The Lord is my helper; I will not be afraid. What can man do to me? Remember your leaders, who spoke the word of God to you. Consider the outcome of their way of life and imitate their faith. Jesus Christ is the same yesterday and today and for ever. Do not be carried away by all kinds of strange teachings. It is good for our hearts to be strengthened by grace, not by ceremonial foods, which are of no value to those who eat them. We have an altar from which those who minister at the tabernacle have no right to eat. The high priest carries the blood of animals into the Most Holy Place as a sin offering, but the bodies are burned outside the camp. And so Jesus also suffered outside the city gate to make the people holy through his own blood. Let us, then, go to him outside the camp, bearing the disgrace he bore. For here we do not have an enduring city, but we are looking for the city that is to come. Through Jesus, therefore, let us continually offer to God a sacrifice of praise—the fruit of lips that confess his name. And do not forget to do good and to share with others, for with such sacrifices God is pleased.

(This is the word of the Lord -- Thanks be to God)

Luke 12 v 13 - 21

(When the reading is announced—Glory to Christ our Saviour)

One Sabbath, when Jesus went to eat in the house of a prominent Pharisee, he was being carefully watched. When he noticed how the guests picked the places of honour at the table, he told them this parable: "When someone invites you to a wedding feast, do not take the place of honour, for a person more distinguished than you may have been invited. If so, the host who invited both of you will come and say to you, 'Give this man your seat.' Then, humiliated, you will have to take the least important place. But when you are invited, take the lowest place, so that when your host comes, he will say to you, 'Friend, move up to a better place.' Then you will be honoured in the presence of all your fellow guests. For everyone who exalts himself will be humbled, and he who humbles himself will be exalted." Then Jesus said to his host, "When you give a luncheon or dinner, do not invite your friends, your brothers or relatives, or your rich neighbours; if you do, they may invite you back and so you will be repaid. But when you give a banquet, invite the poor, the crippled, the lame, the blind, and you will be blessed. Although they cannot repay you, you will be repaid at the resurrection of the righteous."

(This is the Gospel of Christ – Praise to Christ our Lord)

Post Communion Prayer

God our creator, you feed your children with the true manna, the living bread from heaven; let this holy food sustain us through our earthly pilgrimage until we come to that place where hunger and thirst are no more; through Jesus Christ our Lord. Amen

Hymns (Please distribute hymns and Psalms and Holy Communion with prayer for Christian Healing)

1. Praise to the Lord, the almighty, 16;
2. Seek ye first, 138;
3. Make me a channel of your peace, 776;
4. For the healing of the nations, 402 (Tune Westminster Abbey Purcell)

Commentary

Hebrews is in some ways a bit of a mystery letter. No one is sure who wrote it (almost certainly not Paul as it's not his style or content!) and it isn't in the form of a first century letter at all, it appears to be more of a treatise than anything else. The writer is articulate in Greek and knows the Old Testament extremely well. The author's Old Testament quotes are in Greek, rather than Hebrew, so it looks like he was a Greek speaking, Hellenistic, Jew writing to fellow Greek speaking Jews or Jewish Christians regarding the relationship of the Christian faith to Judaism.

It appears that some among them were thinking of turning back to Judaism and their former ways and the letter is a forceful reminder that in Christ they have a far better and eternal option before them. The achievements of Christ and all that He symbolises and signifies are for greater than the old system of sacrifice and priesthood. Moreover, in Christ they have the ultimate realisation of all that they have ever stood for. To turn from Him is to turn back to an inferior substitute, back to failure and ultimately, back to hopelessness.

Hebrews is quite an early piece of writing, probably written before the fall of the Temple and Jerusalem to the Romans in AD70, as otherwise those events would have been mentioned in the letter, especially as the book of Hebrews makes specific references to Priests and sacrifices. Given its focus, content and apparent audience, some have seen Hebrews as the counterpart to Paul's letter to the Romans. In today's Bible reading, which comes at the end of the book of Hebrews, the writer is underlining that God is concerned with the entirety of our way of life, how we live and use our homes, our we treat our relationships, how we respond to others in need, in fact everything that we say, do and believe.

The concept of how we see and relate to others is picked up in the gospel reading. Many at the meal might have been expected to be at the head of the table, a position of status and importance. Rather than assume positions of importance Jesus talks about humility and respect for others, a theme which links the two readings together. Just as the readers of the book of Hebrews, we too are encouraged to live humble and God fearing lives, putting others before ourselves.

When so much of society is geared around social standing, both at the time of Jesus and in current times, allowing ourselves to be open to being humble servants can be difficult, and yet it seems to be at the very heart of the gospel message. To put others first, to consider those with no social standing to be ahead of us in the pecking order of life seems counter intuitive. Our lives are bombarded with stimuli which suggest exactly the opposite. Adverts in our papers, magazines and on TV encourage us to put ourselves first, to look after number one, to surround ourselves with those things and people who will make our life easier and show that we have made it in some way or other. To have the possessions and lifestyle and outward appearance that seek to show we are just a little superior to those around us. Not so much a "keeping up with the Jones'" but with "the Jones' keeping up with us."

Jesus will have none of this. His example is of a humble servant who possesses little of worldly value, but everything of heavenly worth. And He challenges his followers to do likewise. There is also a hidden twist perhaps peculiar to Luke, the only gentile of the gospel writers. In the eternal scheme of things, Israel, as God's chosen people, may have expected to be at the head of the table. In the setting of a prominent Jewish Pharisees home Jesus would seem to be saying this might not be the case. He even seems to be quoting the Hebrew scriptures to prove His point. Who God chooses to be at the head of His table at His heavenly banquet is His choice and His choice alone. Together with the Jews, we may be surprised to see who God chooses to be at the head of His table. We may even be surprised who we see in heaven. In this passage, yet again, we see Jesus challenging the normal rules of society. God's Kingdom does not conform to those rules. God's Kingdom breaks through the norms of prejudice and self interest. Jesus calls us to do the same, to put others first, to be focused on our eternal and lasting reward rather than immediate but transient gains and status we can achieve in the short term. Just perhaps the dinner party for Jesus was a set up. Perhaps the Pharisees and others wanted to see where Jesus would position Himself in their society. He duly obliged, but not in the way they expected and in the event it was they themselves who were socially exposed. Jesus graphically demonstrated that in God's Kingdom there is no hierarchy or status, all are truly equal in the sight of God, however unexpected that might seem. Sam

Meditation

In Jesus' society meals were very powerful means of communication who was who and how important they were in the community. Meals, and where people sat or reclined for them, affirmed and gave legitimacy to a person's role and status in their community. For this reason, most meals were attended by people of the same social rank. The fact that the ruler of the Pharisees invited Jesus to dine at his house indicates that the Pharisees accepted Jesus as a social equal. Typically too, if a person was invited to a meal they would be expected to reciprocate the invitation. Sometime people even refused invitations as they felt unable to offer the same level of hospitality as their potential host. Jesus turns this concept upside down, and rather than inviting those who were perceived as equals in society, He suggests that those who should be invited to dine should specifically be those who can't reciprocate and those who are at the bottom of the social pile. A focus on what is in it for others rather than what is in it for themselves. A questioning of motives and a challenge to self interest, self satisfaction and aggrandisement.

Prayers for Sunday and the week ahead

O God, whose son Jesus Christ our Lord showed the world His majesty and His humility, keep us ever focused on you so that when we are tempted to show our own majesty we are instead stirred to demonstrate our humility; so that the glory of He whom we represent can be shown in all the world. Amen

Almighty God, the fountain of all wisdom, you know our needs before we ask, and our ignorance in our asking; have compassion on our weakness, and give us those things which for our unworthiness we dare not, and for our blindness we cannot ask, for the sake of your Son, Jesus Christ our Lord. Amen

As we sit at our tables and eat, remind us of those who have little to eat. As we are tempted to exalt ourselves, remind us of the humility of Christ. As we are tempted to ignore those who are not like ourselves, remind us that Christ ignores no-one and all are invited to His heavenly banquet. Amen.

The God of peace, who brought again from the dead our Lord Jesus, that great shepherd of the sheep, through the blood of the eternal covenant, make you perfect in every good work to do his will, working in you that which is well-pleasing in his sight; and the blessing of God Almighty, the Father, the Son, and the Holy Spirit, be among you and remain with you always. Amen

O God, you resist those who are proud and give grace to those who are humble, Give us the humility of your Son, that we may embody the generosity of Jesus Christ, our Saviour and Lord.

Sankey-Moody Evening

We are holding an evening of Sankey-Moody praise at Putnoe Heights Church at 6.30p.m. on Sunday 26th September. Ira Sankey and Dwight Moody were two American evangelists who dominated the religious scene in the second half of the 19th century. Sankey, was the son of devout Methodist parents in Pennsylvania, and together with other members of the family, would join in singing hymns in the family home. He developed a love for gospel singing and became a celebrated gospel singer in the States.

He came to the notice of Moody, then a prominent pastor in Chicago, and they joined together to hold revival meetings across the States before coming to England, where they toured the major cities drawing large crowds. The combination of Sankey's singing and hymn writing, with Moody's fervent preaching, led many to Christ. Sankey collected 1200 hymns and sacred songs to publish a book collection entitled, 'Sacred Songs and solos'. The effect of these two men has continued right up to the present day, as Churches all over the country have still held evenings of praise (as we intend to do) in the style and tradition of those evangelists. From personal experience of having conducted this kind of service, I know that all who have attended, found them a time of joy and inspiration. We look forward to your presence with us, especially if you enjoy singing, and suggest you bring a friend. If anyone would like to join in a singing group for this service, will you please speak with Mike Puttock (m.puttock@sky.com) or Eric Royden (eroyden@gmail.com, 01234 294496)

Rest In Peace

On the Sunday following a funeral service we remember in church those who have died. We light a candle to symbolise the light of Christ which eternally shines and brings hope. If you would like a person remembered in our service when the candle is lit, perhaps on an anniversary or birthday, please inform the ministers, or telephone the church office.

Eileen Callow

May the souls of all the faithful departed through the mercy of God, rest in peace and rise in glory. Amen.
