Fifth Sunday of Lent Year B

First Sunday of the Passion

Verse of Scripture Psalm 51:10

Create in me a pure heart, O God, and renew a steadfast spirit within me

A Collect Prayer - Before we read we pray

Most merciful God, who by the death and resurrection of your Son Jesus Christ delivered and saved the world: grant that by faith in him who suffered on the cross we may triumph in the power of his victory; through Jesus Christ your Son our Lord, who is alive and reigns with you, in the unity of the Holy Spirit, one God, now and for ever. Amen Methodist Worship

Amen

First Reading - Jeremiah 31: 31-34

"The time is coming," declares the LORD, "when I will make a new covenant with the house of Israel and with the house of Judah. It will not be like the covenant I made with their forefathers when I took them by the hand to lead them out of Egypt, because they broke my covenant, though I was a husband to them," declares the LORD. "This is the covenant I will make with the house of Israel after that time," declares the LORD. "I will put my law in their minds and write it on their hearts. I will be their God, and they will be my people. No longer will a man teach his neighbour or a man his brother, saying, 'Know the LORD,' because they will all know me, from the least of them to the greatest," declares the LORD. "For I will forgive their wickedness and will remember their sins no more."

(Reader: This is the word of the Lord. All: Thanks be to God)

Second Reading - Hebrews 5: 5-10

Every high priest is selected from among men and is appointed to represent them in matters related to God, to offer gifts and sacrifices for sins. He is able to deal gently with those who are ignorant and are going astray, since he himself is subject to weakness. This is why he has to offer sacrifices for his own sins, as well as for the sins of the people. No one takes this honour upon himself; he must be called by God, just as Aaron was. So Christ also did not take upon himself the glory of becoming a high priest. But God said to him, "You are my Son; today I have become your Father." And he says in another place, "You are a priest forever, in the order of Melchizedek." During the days of Jesus' life on earth, he offered up prayers and petitions with loud cries and tears to the one who could save him from death, and he was heard because of his reverent submission. Although he was a son, he learned obedience from what he suffered and, once made perfect, he became the source of eternal salvation for all who obey him and was designated by God to be high priest in the order of Melchizedek.

(Reader : This is the word of the Lord. All: Thanks be to God)

Third Reading - John 12: 20-33

Now there were some Greeks among those who went up to worship at the Feast. They came to Philip, who was from Bethsaida in Galilee, with a request. "Sir," they said, "we would like to see Jesus." Philip went to tell Andrew; Andrew and Philip in turn told Jesus. Jesus replied, "The hour has come for the Son of Man to be glorified. I tell you the truth, unless a kernel of wheat falls to the ground and dies, it remains only a single seed. But if it dies, it produces many seeds. The man who loves his life will lose it, while the man who hates his life in this world will keep it for eternal life. Whoever serves me must follow me; and where I am, my servant also will be. My Father will honour the one who serves me. "Now my heart is troubled, and what shall I say 'Father, save me from this

The days are surely coming, says the Lord, when I will make a new covenant with the house of Israel. Jeremiah 31.31 hour'? No, it was for this very reason I came to this hour. Father, glorify your name!" Then a voice came from heaven, "I have glorified it, and will glorify it again." The crowd that was there and heard it said it had thundered; others said an angel had spoken to him. Jesus said, "This voice was for your benefit, not mine. Now is the time for judgment on this world; now the prince of this world will be driven out. But I, when I am lifted up from the earth, will draw all men to myself." He said this to show the kind of death he was going to die.

(Reader : This is the word of the Lord All: Thanks be to God)

Post Communion Prayer

Lord Jesus Christ, you have taught us that what we do for the least of our brothers and sisters we do also for you: give us the will to be the servant of others as you were the servant of all, and gave up your life and died for us, but are alive and reign, now and for ever. Amen

Hymns Please distribute Mission Praise

Commentary

You could argue that the Bible is one long battle between the arrogance of humans and the desire of God to draw close to us. Looked at from the point of view, the whole emphasis on Covenant becomes clearer. What is the Covenant except an agreement for Man to recognise that in he needs God, and God reminding Man that He will always be with humanity? In Jesus the Hebrew Bible Covenant is renewed and remade but the promise remains the same. God will be faithful to mankind but we must live according to the standards laid out for us in the Bible and especially in the example of Jesus.

The trouble is that we humans are foolish, prone to think we know better than God and that we can live without Him. We are selfish, and prefer to love ourselves better than our neighbour. And so we need all the time need to remind ourselves, and be reminded, that we need God. We also need the help and support of other Christians. It is very hard to live a Gospel-based life without support, inspiration and the corrective influence of other Christians.

This dialogue between human pride and God's purpose is a theme which runs through much of the Bible and is detectable in all the three readings this morning. Through the inspiration of the prophet Jeremiah, God speaks of his desire to renew the Covenant. The writer says that God has bound himself to his people as a husband is bound to his wife, contracted and faithful. But God wants his Law to be parts of the hearts and minds of the people, knit into the fabric of their very bodies. The relationship with God is not to be abstract "out there" but part of the fabric of our bodies and permeating through every aspect of our lives.

The reading from Hebrews is a short extract from a long and complicated discussion on the nature of Jesus' ministry. In particular the concept of Jesus as a High Priest is considered. What is the nature of that priesthood? How does Jesus surpass all other priests and prophets? Our short scripture passage stresses Jesus' perfect obedience to God's will. Although Jesus had the privileges of a son, he did not exploit his advantage but always chose the way of self-sacrifice and submission to Divine Will.

In the quite long passage from John's Gospel there can be found again the theme of obedience to God's will, Jesus willingness to submit to it. Almost casually there is slipped in mention of an extraordinary religious experience, witnessed by a crowd of people including the disciples. A voice from Heaven answered Jesus' prayer "Father Glorify your name" The voice replied "I have glorified it and will glorify it again". The act which would proclaim God's power and glory would be through Jesus' giving of himself. The disciples were confused, the crowd were disappointed at the idea that Jesus the Christ would die. It is all very simple, Jesus would draw men to God through his death and resurrection. He would be that seed that would apparently die to produce many more seeds. But Jesus had to give himself in an unimaginably brave way for that greater good to be achieved. He is a model for obedience.

Meditation

In the All age Worship today, I shall be using as an illustration the classic French folk tale of Beauty and the Beast. The wonderful Disney film of 1991 is much loved by the younger members of the church and so is useful for putting across a key theological theme. In the brief address this morning I shall talk about the film and how The Beast and the heroine Belle, "Beauty", need each other to help them to learn how to be better.

Beast is cross and difficult but has a caring, protective nature which Belle brings out. Belle is impulsive and inclined to be demanding. By having to get along, they both improve as a people and overcome their faults. This is a helpful way of seeing the Christian community: as a place where we can grow spiritually and develop as people. By worshipping alongside other Christians, working with other Christians for the glory of God, we are modified and, hopefully, become better. It isn't always easy to go through the process of growth, but it is a priceless aid in spiritual development. Joan Crossley

Prayers for Sunday and the week ahead

O Lord our God whose might is without compare and whose glory surpasses understanding, whose mercy is without measure and love of men beyond telling; look on us, Master, according to your tenderness of heart, on us and all we love; and deal with us, and all for whom we pray, in the riches of your mercy and compassion. Amen (Adapter from the liturgy of St John Chrysostom)

We are the mediocre, we are the half-givers, we are the half-lovers, we are the savourless salt. Lord Jesus Christ, restore us now to the primal splendour of first love. To the austere light of the breaking day. Let us hunger and thirst, let us burn in the flame. Break the hard crust of complacency. Quicken in us the sharp grace of desire. Caryll Houselander

Lord Jesus Christ, who showed on this earth Your love for children: guide we pray, with Your Spirit, those who are called to the ministry of teaching: that nothing may hinder or children from growing in faith and love. Amen

It is undoubtedly true that if we could see and know ourselves as we are, we would be truly humble (Adapted from the Cloud of Unknowing) Lord help me to see who I am, and to understand who you might enable me to become. Amen.

Mildmay. Our churches recently sent £3,800 to Mildmay to help their work with people in the UK, Eastern Europe and sub-Saharan Africa with HIV and AIDS. The Methodist recorder last week featured an article about Mildmay and the financial difficulties which they face, especially given the difficult financial climate of the NHS. Dr Veronica Moss sent us the following response

Dear Sam,

Thank you for asking me about this. We have been very encouraged by the response we have had so far from Christian and even national press, and supporters. We are especially grateful to churches such as yours which have made Mildmay 'their' project for the year and shown such commitment to raising awareness as well as funding for our work throughout the year. From time to time we are forced into making special appeals, and over the past few months we have been feeling 'the pinch' as a result of the NHS cutbacks and also the downturn in general voluntary giving as a result of all the disasters that have occurred over the past 18 months or so. However, support such as yours gives us the foundation upon which to work, and we are enormously grateful to all the members for their on-going interest and prayers, as well as the actual giving. Please continue to pray for us, for wisdom in decisions we make, for the skill to be good stewards of what we are given and for the vision to see what God wants us to do in each situation we face.

Fresh Expressions.org.uk

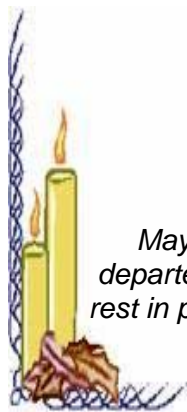

The Church of England and the Methodist Church are together committed to the initiative to develop fresh expressions of worship and being church. Many examples are found in Dioceses and Districts across the country. Our churches are committed to this. We now realise that if we fail to find new ways of what it means to be the church in our changing culture then our churches will be redundant in our country. For this reason fresh expressions encourages us to think of new ways to be mission led. So often we are tempted to look back to past times with fond memories, but are you able to think of fresh ways of being church?

Almighty God,
you call your people
to proclaim afresh in every generation
the good news of Jesus your Son.
By the power of your Spirit rekindle in us gifts of courage and compassion.
Open our eyes to see grace at work
beyond our churches.
Help us to work with you in building
new communities of faith,
fresh expressions of your constant love
in a changing and uncertain world.
For the building of your kingdom and the glory of your name. Amen.

Rest In Peace

On the Sunday following a funeral service we remember in church those who have died. We light a candle to symbolise the light of Christ which eternally shines and brings hope. If you would like a person remembered in our service when the candle is lit, perhaps on an anniversary or birthday, please inform the ministers, or telephone the church office.

May the souls of all the faithful departed through the mercy of God, rest in peace and rise in glory. Amen.'
