Thank You

The flowers at Putnoe Heights Church this week have been given by Roger and Anne Platt to celebrate family birthdays and anniversaries.

We are always grateful for any donations for flowers perhaps to celebrate a special occasion, an anniversary or in memory of a loved one. Please contact Miss Marion Prior 303254 (St Mark's) or Miss Jennie Cooper 404950 (Putnoe Heights)

Prayer for Sunday

Thy sovereign grace to all extends

Holy God, too great to be trifled with and too wise to be deceived by insincerity; compose our thoughts as we enter your presence, order our minds as we bring our petitions, and grant us grace to offer you the loving sacrifice of hearts both steadfast and obedient; through Jesus Christ our Lord. Amen.

Susanna Wesley, 1669-1742

Telecare scheme, please do so. Additional members of the Pastoral Team are sharing the task of making telephone calls. Please do not be concerned if a new person calls.

27th in Ordinary

Opening Verse

I am not ashamed, because I know whom I have believed, and am convinced that he is able to guard what I have entrusted to him for that day. 2 Tim 1: 1

Collect Prayer for the Day

God our judge and Saviour, teach us to be open to your truth and to trust in your love, that we may live each day with confidence in the salvation which is given through Jesus Christ our Lord. Amen

First Bible Reading - Habakuk 1: 1 – 4; 2 : 1 - 4

The oracle that Habakkuk the prophet received. How long, O LORD, must I call for help, but you do not listen? Or cry out to you, "Violence!" but you do not save? Why do you make me look at injustice? Why do you tolerate wrong? Destruction and violence are before me; There is strife, and conflict abounds. Therefore the law is paralyzed, and justice never prevails. The wicked hem in the righteous, so that justice is perverted. I will stand at my watch and station myself on the ramparts; I will look to see what he will say to me, and what answer I am to give to this complaint. Then the LORD replied: "Write down the revelation and make it plain on tablets so that a herald may run with it. For the revelation awaits an appointed time; it speaks of the end and will not prove false. Though it linger, wait for it; it will certainly come and will not delay. "See, he is puffed up; his desires are not upright- but the righteous will live by his faith.

(This is the word of the Lord - Thanks be to God)

Second Bible Reading - 2 Timothy 1: 1 - 14

Paul, an apostle of Christ Jesus by the will of God, according to the promise of life that is in Christ Jesus, To Timothy, my dear son: Grace, mercy and peace from God the Father and Christ Jesus our Lord. I thank God, whom I serve, as my forefathers did, with a clear conscience, as night and day I constantly remember you in my prayers. Recalling your tears, I long to see you, so that I may be filled with joy. I have been reminded of your sincere faith, which first lived in your grandmother Lois and in your mother Eunice and, I am persuaded, now lives in you also. For this reason I remind you to fan into flame the gift of God, which is in you through the laying on of my hands. For God did not give us a spirit of timidity, but a spirit of power, of love and of self-discipline. So do not be ashamed to testify about our Lord, or ashamed of me his prisoner. But join with me in suffering for the gospel, by the power of God, who has saved us and called us to a holy life--not because of anything we have done but because of his own purpose and grace. This grace was given us in Christ Jesus before the beginning of time, but it has now been revealed through the appearing of our Saviour, Christ Jesus, who has destroyed death and has brought life and immortality to light through the gospel. And of this gospel I was appointed a herald and an apostle and a teacher. That is why I am suffering as I am. Yet I am not ashamed, because I know whom I have believed, and am convinced that he is able to guard what I have entrusted to him for that day. What you heard from me, keep as the pattern of sound teaching, with faith and love in Christ Jesus. Guard the good deposit that was entrusted to you--guard it with the help of the Holy Spirit who lives in us.

(This is the word of the Lord - Thanks be to God)

Gospel Reading - Luke 17: 5 – 10

The apostles said to the Lord, "Increase our faith!" He replied, "If you have faith as small as a mustard seed, you can say to this mulberry tree, 'Be uprooted and planted in the sea,' and it will obey you. "Suppose one of you had a servant ploughing or looking after the sheep. Would he say to the servant when he comes in from the field, 'Come along now and sit down to eat'? Would he not rather say, 'Prepare my supper, get yourself ready and wait on me while I eat and drink; after that you may eat and drink'? Would he thank the servant because he did what he was told to do? So you also, when you have done everything you were told to do, should say, 'We are unworthy servants; we have only done our duty.' "

(This is the word of the Lord - Thanks be to God)

Post Communion Prayer

Bountiful God, you entrust your creation to our care. Grant us the grace so to order our common life that we may use your gifts to your glory, for the relief of those in need and for our own well-being, through Jesus Christ our Lord. Amen

Commentary - A strange request

The disciples' request to Jesus seems rather strange. Faith is a personal matter. Each one of us is at a different place on our faith journey, a journey which is impacted by our own personal experiences of life and God, and how we have been influenced by such events and interactions. But our faith remains personal; it is dependant upon how we react to the events that have happened around us and to us through the course of our lives. Sometimes these will be life changing events and we can look back and see the impact they had on our lives. Sometimes they will be small and we don't realise just how they have changed us until we look back many years later and realise that some small event in our past has had a profound effect on our life. So it's strange that the disciples ask Jesus to increase their faith, something which is personal to them - but their request is in response to the parables that Jesus has just told, all of which underline the importance of faith, and their desire to be better disciples. And if the disciples question seems strange, Jesus' reply looks rather odd to begin with. He tells them a story about a servant who is working hard in the fields when his master comes home and demands to be fed. The servant duly does what he is told as its his duty to do so. But in telling this parable, Jesus is giving all His disciples an insight as to just how they can increase their faith. Simply to get on with doing the things we have been charged by our master, God, to do, however mundane and everyday they seem. It's easy to fall into the trap of believing that the experiences through which our faith grows need to be spectacular, but so often they are not. For most of us, most of the time our faith develops through the accumulation and culmination of lots of smaller experiences which we have in everyday life. It is through these smaller, much less spectacular everyday events which God gives that our faith is gradually strengthened and deepened bit by bit.

For the disciples, who at this stage were getting used to the extra-ordinary and the spectacular, this was a critical element of faith which they needed to fully understand. God can and does act through the spectacular, but more often he acts through the everyday things of life. He uses ordinary people like ourselves who are getting on with life guided by God's precepts. The disciples needed to realise that how a believer's faith is strengthened is ultimately up to the individual themselves. There was no prayer or blessing that Jesus could give them that would deepen their faith in some mysterious way without effort, dedication and service on their part. It is a living out of God's love, that Jesus demonstrated in His life and death, that is the way of ever deepening faith. For the disciples and for ourselves, that should be an encouragement. As we live out God's love, so our faith is strengthened and deepened, almost without us realising. Yes, there are things which we can do to learn more about Jesus and His love, time we can spend reflecting on the how God wants us as individuals to live out our lives of faith which will help us on that journey but ultimately it is about living our lives in a manner which is pleasing to God which will strengthen our faith. As Jesus explains to the disciples, '...to do our duty', is the way of every deepening faith. Sam Cappleman

Meditation

We are people of faith, but our experiences of trusting who and what we believe differ. Sometimes we too, like the disciples, want to cry out to God to 'Increase our faith' as we look at the world around us and the desperate situations we see on the television and read in our newspapers. With Habakkuk we plead for help, wanting God to do something but so often He seems not to listen. Sometimes it seems too much to bear. God responds to Habakkuk and to the disciples telling them that there is a bigger picture, one which is measured in God's time and is everlasting. We are part of that eternal picture and God reminds us that we should not lose sight of that perspective, nor forget that we have a role to play in eternity by being faithful servants now, however difficult it feels at times. Our faith and actions are like frail fires. They expand once lit, bringing light and warmth to those around. Even though our faith, like a fire, sometimes no more than flickers, it can still illuminate the dark cold places of our lives and those around us. Through our faith we can make a difference to the world, however difficult it seems at time. For this reason Paul encourages us to, '...fan into flame the gift of God, which is in you... For God did not give us a spirit of timidity, but a spirit of power'. God is all powerful but the instrument He chose to demonstrate His power is sometimes frail. Paul encourages us that, however timid we sometimes feel, we should always live out our Christian lives in the spirit of the power of the life changing Holy Spirit.

Prayers for Sunday and the Week Ahead

Your are never tired, O Lord, of doing us good. Let us never be weary of doing you service. But as you have pleasure in the well-being of your servants, let us take pleasure in the service of our Lord and abound in your work and in your love and praise evermore. Amen

Holy Spirit, light up grace within us. Let us be kindling. Let us burn with love. Stir into flames your acts of love in our lives. Amen

They arrive, one by one. Dragons called Strife come and sit on our chests and they suck all the air out of us. Some come from outside, some from within. Let belief be our armour, Lord; let faith be our shield. Your battles are our battles. Give us your victory. Amen

Lord, help me please to always make a home for you in my heart and to receive within that home the neighbours and friends and especially the strangers whom I meet. I am grateful that you are God and that you include me in your assembly, and in your love. Amen

May God, who in Christ gives us a spring of water welling up to eternal life, perfect in you the image of His glory; and may the blessing of God almighty, the Father, the Son and the Holy Spirit, be among you and remain with you always. Amen

Halloween Relief

A CHURCH of England campaign was launched a year ago to combat the scarier side of Hallowe'en by the Bishop of Bolton the Rt Revd David Gillett. He urged supermarkets to rethink how they marketed the festival to children. Recent years have seen a growth of increasingly horrific merchandise. Last week, the chief executives of both Asda and Sainsbury's told Bishop Gillett that they are offering alternatives to the usual range of goods associated with the festival. Justin King, CEO of Sainsbury's, wrote: "I appreciate your concerns about the nature of the Hallowe'en products we sell. I can understand your worries that Hallowe'en products may have antisocial effects. When looking at what we would sell for this year's Hallowe'en, we talked to our customers to find out what products they would like to buy." As a consequence, the supermarket chain would be promoting glow sticks, hair braids, and face paints. We will also be selling books that will allow customers to find out about alternative ways of marking Hallowe'en that they might like to try." Andy Bond, CEO of Asda, wrote: "Your concerns have been discussed with my colleagues, and our buying team have collated a range of costumes and accessories which we consider to be lighter than previously offered."

Bishop Gillett said: "I am delighted that the big supermarkets have agreed with our campaign that they have a responsibility to offer choice. I now hope that parents will use their spending power, vote with their baskets, and do what they can to show big businesses that we all want Hallowe'en to be a more positive festival for our society."

Scouts Many of you will have seen much media coverage of Scouting's Centenary in 2007, but Putnoe Scout Group also celebrates its 50th Anniversary this year. As part of the celebrations the Group are planning a Reunion Party on 17th November at the Scout HQ. There is an open invitation to anyone who has ever been involved, or is still involved, and their families. If this is you, or someone you know, then please get in contact with us so that we can forward a formal invitation. If you can't attend on the 17th and would like more information on what the Scouts are up to now, or if you can offer help in any way, I would be delighted to hear from you. Bob Calver

Methodist Church welcomes crackdown on sex trafficking

The Methodist Church has welcomed Pentameter 2, a government initiative to tackle the growing problem of sex trafficking. UK police forces aim to rescue women and children who have been forced to work in the sex industry and to prosecute those who profit from human trafficking.

Margaret Sawyer, Secretary for the Women's Network of the Methodist Church, says; 'We're delighted to welcome the long-awaited Pentameter 2 initiative to further track and arrest the perpetrators of trafficking and more importantly to release innocent victims of this most abhorrent crime. However, we would urge the Home Office urgently and thoroughly to resource the provision of proper safe houses and care networks in order adequately to meet the needs of those who will be released.'

Church Christmas Cards. This year we will be selling our own church Christmas cards in aid of church funds. The cards can be seen now and will be available soon from the church offices. Please place orders and we will have them ready for you.

Brickhill Methodist Home for the Aged.

I received notification this week that permission has been granted to move the bridleway which has halted progress on the development of the home. This will allow building to proceed.

Banns

We publish the banns and pray for the marriage of Danielle Monique Martin and Paul Barrett to take place on Friday 12th October at 4pm at St Mark's.

Rest In Peace

On the Sunday following a funeral service we remember in church those who have died. We light a candle to symbolise the light of Christ which eternally shines and brings hope. If you would like a person remembered in our service when the candle is lit, perhaps on an anniversary or birthday, please inform the ministers, or telephone the church office.

Geoffrey Rogers

May the souls of all the faithful departed through the mercy of God, rest in peace and rise in glory. Amen.'

Rest in Peace
